

THE TOWN ELECTIONS.

Yesterday the elections for Mayor and Town Councilors terminated in a very quiet and orderly manner, Dr. Holden leading the poll over his opponent until the close. His title interest compared with the close. The result was made, until the second day, according to the small number of votes polled. The following is the state of the polls at close :—

KETCHESON WARD.

There were five boilers in this plant, three of which were new and which had been in use before. It is not known whether the boiler which had been repaired in July last. It was from the sudden action of steam that the time there were only 50 pounds of steam in the boiler. The boiler was burst and was cast over 110 feet, and others weighing two and three tons dashed through a solid stone wall. The distance of the 50 or 60 feet and the concussion of the explosion, and were heard all round number of gas lights in a neighboring street extinguished. The origin of the explosion was traced to the plates of the boiler—which cost $200. No blame, so far as can be attached to the firm, nor an engineer, who was in every way careful, and who had a goodly sum to repair the damage done, three thousand pounds. Doomed wife and seven small children to misfortune, and a large number of men thrown out of employment.

Correspondence.

To the Editor of the Hastings Chronicle.
 Dear Sir, I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your issue of the 11th inst., and in reply to inform you that the same has been forwarded to the proper authorities for their consideration.

Several Notes have been given our Agent, as well as accounts over two years due to the Chronicle Office, but, without exception, be placed in Court for collection, or not settled by the 1st February next.

The trial of James Anshel, a colored man, for the murder of George Linn, on the 10th inst., which occupied the Court of Queen's Bench in Toronto on Tuesday and Wednesday, has resulted in a verdict of "not guilty," and a subsequent trial for the robbery of the said Linn, resulted immediately, at the suggestion of the Crown prosecutor, in a similar verdict. The Oble gave a recapitulation of the evidence, which is certainly very strong against the accused man. It is to be remarked that Linn was a farmer, who was from Toronto to sell a load of hay, and who, on returning, drank freely at the tavern by the way. It was while in a state of partial intoxication that he was murdered and robbed.

Every man who gives attention to his health should be allowed to make his profit. The proprietor must be one of those, or his business would cease and he must sometimes believe heavy gains to come from his health. Parents should bear this in mind, and not be too eager to obtain the last cent. Those who have driven and arrived at wealth, have generally done so by paying attention to their land and crops, which they could control, rather than to the market, which they could not.

CHAS. COLMAN, Editor.

On account of the great demand for First Class Buffalo Robes, we have opened out two boxes of these very large Robes, which we will sell at the lowest remunerative price.

JOHNSON'S ISLAND AGAIN, N.E. NAUCL.

Canadian Rights en Route to Windsor—Second Edition of the Great Session.

A special despatch to the New York Tribune, on the strength of a report, says that two thousand rebels, that is, John Brown, are congregated at Point Lookout, for another attack on Johnson's Island.

From information lately obtained, it appears that this island is no longer an island, but is connected with the mainland by a bridge.

An attack under such circumstances is quite feasible. The wonder is, that after the late case, the Federalists, in keeping a many persons in an exposed position.

Apart from the danger of rescue, there is the possibility of international difficulties. Further, it is a piece of reduced credit to implicate Southern States in a raid, unbelieved in as Johnson's Island.

Having assumed the responsibility of having all danger, it is not to be wondered that we should be in trouble from a threatened armed invasion starting from ourselves to break the peace and rescue the imprisoned Confederates. What truth there is in the report to the New York Tribune correspondent, we know not.

Certain it is, that two companies of the Royal Canadian Rifles received orders yesterday to start for Windsor forthwith.

Yesterday, the officers in command proceeded to Windsor to arrange for the housing of the troops. These preparations may or may not have been completed.

After the fact of the greater danger of the recent excitement, we cannot attach importance to the present. However it turns out, we trust that there will be no breach of the peace. We hope also that to prevent represent Confederates, Johnson's Island will, in future, cease to be tenanted by captured Confederates. The Federal Government owes it to the Imperial government to make such a change.

AN ANTI-SLAVERY ADDRESS FROM SWITZERLAND.—The Progressive party of Switzerland, like that of every other country of Europe, has been, from the beginning of the war, unanimous in its sympathy with the cause of the Union, and especially with the Emancipation policy of President Lincoln.

The chief association of the Progressive party, the "Helvetic," at the General Assembly, held at Bern in September, 1863, unanimously passed a resolution to send an address to President Lincoln.

The address, which was signed by the President of the Helvetic, and likewise of the National Council (Senate) of the Swiss Confederacy, was charged with (owing up this address).

In the National Council (Senate) of Switzerland, Dr. J. J. Schaffhauser, who has spent many years in Central and South America, moved a resolution to the effect that the Swiss Government should be authorized to hold slaves on penalty of being deprived of all their rights as citizens.

The National Council, however, refused to exceed its power, but, in passing to the order of the day, expressed its opposition to slavery.—N. Y. Tribune.

DEADLY EFFECTS OF INTERFERENCE.—On Sunday night last, between seven and eight o'clock, a heavy shower of rain fell on the banks of the Grand River, at the northern end of the Chaudiere, took fire and was burnt to the ground, the burning element continuing in its fury as old men and women of the name of SEAN, the sole occupants of the tenement.

It seems the old woman, a shanty, standing on a bed, being partially paralyzed, and consequently unable to leave her bed. The old man was badly drunk; so that, when he became aware that the house was on fire, he could neither help himself nor his helpless companion. In an incredibly short time after the fire commenced, the whole structure was one sheet of flame, and, consequently, the two miserable creatures were turned into a mass of charred bones.—Ottawa Citizen.

CHANCERY BLANKS.—Notice to proceed with Equities.—Deeds for Enforcement of Mortgages to be made out by the Clerk of the Court, at the Court House, at the following prices:—

For a writ of Habeas Corpus, $1.00.

For a writ of Mandamus, $1.00.

Several Notes have been given our Agent, as well as accounts over two years due to the Chronicle Office, but, without exception, be placed in Court for collection, or not settled by the 1st February next.

The trial of James Anshel, a colored man, for the murder of George Linn, on the 10th inst., which occupied the Court of Queen's Bench in Toronto on Tuesday and Wednesday, has resulted in a verdict of "not guilty," and a subsequent trial for the robbery of the said Linn, resulted immediately, at the suggestion of the Crown prosecutor, in a similar verdict. The Oble gave a recapitulation of the evidence, which is certainly very strong against the accused man. It is to be remarked that Linn was a farmer, who was from Toronto to sell a load of hay, and who, on returning, drank freely at the tavern by the way. It was while in a state of partial intoxication that he was murdered and robbed.

Every man who gives attention to his health should be allowed to make his profit. The proprietor must be one of those, or his business would cease and he must sometimes believe heavy gains to come from his health. Parents should bear this in mind, and not be too eager to obtain the last cent. Those who have driven and arrived at wealth, have generally done so by paying attention to their land and crops, which they could control, rather than to the market, which they could not.

JOHNSON'S ISLAND AGAIN, N.E. NAUCL.

Canadian Rights en Route to Windsor—Second Edition of the Great Session.

A special despatch to the New York Tribune, on the strength of a report, says that two thousand rebels, that is, John Brown, are congregated at Point Lookout, for another attack on Johnson's Island.

From information lately obtained, it appears that this island is no longer an island, but is connected with the mainland by a bridge.

An attack under such circumstances is quite feasible. The wonder is, that after the late case, the Federalists, in keeping a many persons in an exposed position.

Apart from the danger of rescue, there is the possibility of international difficulties. Further, it is a piece of reduced credit to implicate Southern States in a raid, unbelieved in as Johnson's Island.

Having assumed the responsibility of having all danger, it is not to be wondered that we should be in trouble from a threatened armed invasion starting from ourselves to break the peace and rescue the imprisoned Confederates. What truth there is in the report to the New York Tribune correspondent, we know not.

Certain it is, that two companies of the Royal Canadian Rifles received orders yesterday to start for Windsor forthwith.

Yesterday, the officers in command proceeded to Windsor to arrange for the housing of the troops. These preparations may or may not have been completed.

After the fact of the greater danger of the recent excitement, we cannot attach importance to the present. However it turns out, we trust that there will be no breach of the peace. We hope also that to prevent represent Confederates, Johnson's Island will, in future, cease to be tenanted by captured Confederates. The Federal Government owes it to the Imperial government to make such a change.

AN ANTI-SLAVERY ADDRESS FROM SWITZERLAND.—The Progressive party of Switzerland, like that of every other country of Europe, has been, from the beginning of the war, unanimous in its sympathy with the cause of the Union, and especially with the Emancipation policy of President Lincoln.

The chief association of the Progressive party, the "Helvetic," at the General Assembly, held at Bern in September, 1863, unanimously passed a resolution to send an address to President Lincoln.

The address, which was signed by the President of the Helvetic, and likewise of the National Council (Senate) of the Swiss Confederacy, was charged with (owing up this address).

In the National Council (Senate) of Switzerland, Dr. J. J. Schaffhauser, who has spent many years in Central and South America, moved a resolution to the effect that the Swiss Government should be authorized to hold slaves on penalty of being deprived of all their rights as citizens.

The National Council, however, refused to exceed its power, but, in passing to the order of the day, expressed its opposition to slavery.—N. Y. Tribune.

DEADLY EFFECTS OF INTERFERENCE.—On Sunday night last, between seven and eight o'clock, a heavy shower of rain fell on the banks of the Grand River, at the northern end of the Chaudiere, took fire and was burnt to the ground, the burning element continuing in its fury as old men and women of the name of SEAN, the sole occupants of the tenement.

It seems the old woman, a shanty, standing on a bed, being partially paralyzed, and consequently unable to leave her bed. The old man was badly drunk; so that, when he became aware that the house was on fire, he could neither help himself nor his helpless companion. In an incredibly short time after the fire commenced, the whole structure was one sheet of flame, and, consequently, the two miserable creatures were turned into a mass of charred bones.—Ottawa Citizen.
